

Friday, February 9th, 2018

We had a lot of fun talking about different types of transportation this week! We also celebrated our 100th day of school today - so exciting! The students all worked very hard on different 100th day projects. We practiced working together as a team and using our problem solving skills.

Next week we will be doing Valentine's day activities and crafts. We will be having our party on Wednesday from 10:30-12, all are welcome to attend! If you would like to help facilitate a group activity we are still looking for a volunteer to play a game with the students, this can count as service hours!

Huge thank you to the mystery gift giver! We really appreciate the Starbucks gift cards, we need all the help we can to stay caffeinated!

Weekend Homework:

Make valentines for the class!

Reminders:

We are planning a book sale for March 22nd-23rd! If you have any gently used books, puzzles, or board games that you would be willing to donate we would appreciate it! More details will be sent out closer to the date of the sale.

Scholastic orders are due Friday, February 16th!

If you arrive at school AFTER 8:30, please be sure you are checking in at the office BEFORE coming into the classroom. We try to keep our door locked during the day for safety reasons.

Have a fabulous weekend!

Miss Jennipher and Mrs. Melissa