We learned all about hibernation this week. We talked about why some animals hibernate and some do not. The kids worked on cutting and pasting skills and patterns. They made a book about different animals that hibernate and wrote about what they would eat if they were going to hibernate. Kindergarten wrote about whether or not they would like to hibernate. They began chapter 4 of GoMath this week - represent and compare numbers to ten. They will be finishing this chapter before winter break and will move on to chapter 5 in January.
