This week in PreK-K

Letter Focus: d and b – sounds

Poetry Journals: The Turkey is a Funny Bird

Writing: This week the children had their thoughts transcribed for them for their writing journals on any topic they chose so they could elaborate more on their topics. Then they copied the transcription into their journals.

Reading: We have begun our Fairytale Unit this week with versions of the Goldilocks stories. We are reading different versions of this classic tale and comparing the story elements of characters, setting, problems, and solutions.

Math: All the students are working on problem solving with number pairs.

Art: In art the students painted craft sticks and cardboard with tempera paints and then added designs with oil pastels. The sticks were glued to the cardboard base.

A few notes...

- Tuesday, the 24th, the day before Thanksgiving break, we will be having PAJAMA DAY and will be watching the movie Charlotte's Web to culminate our reading of the chapter book. I will be providing popcorn and juice boxes.
- Student-Led Conferences will be held December 18th. For those of you who are unfamiliar with this type of conference, students will be highlighting some of the information and skills they have learned during the first trimester at this conference. They will present and parents and teachers will support and enjoy.

If you would like the opportunity for a traditional parent-teacher conference to discuss your child's academic or social/emotional progress at school with the teacher, please feel free to schedule a separate time with me. I am willing to work with your schedule. Thank you.
